

Promoting Public Health in Michigan in the Face of COVID-19

REGISTER NOW!

FREE ONLINE COURSE

*Brought to you by Michigan State University
Public Health Experts and Community Leaders*

This course will enhance the public's understanding of public health, why it is important in the fight against COVID-19 and beyond, and practices for promoting the health of diverse individuals and communities.

Course content includes:

- Five brief core modules
- Pre-recorded presentations that can be accessed at any time
- Live interactive discussions to reflect on the course content and share questions

Register HERE

YOU WILL LEARN:

A brief history of public health, including the impact of vaccines

How psychological, social, and environmental factors influence health

About COVID-19 testing and treatment in Michigan

How to promote critical elements of a healthy society

How communities can support public health